

Original Entertainment & Appreciation Event for Associations, Businesses & Corporations

Book now for a Mario the Peddler show date.

The 90-minute stage production of the one-man show was written and is performed by award-winning and bestselling author Anthony (Tony) Bottagaro. Click above to see video clips of a performance held for the Colorado History Museum or go online at <http://mariothepeddler.com/clips.html>.

Tired of the same old approach?

If you're looking for original entertainment, look no further than a Mario the Peddler show. Mario the Peddler is a live 90-minute show based on the gutsy and humorous main character from The Poet, The Count, and The Peddler. The inspirational stage play is filled with heartwarming stories with messages that both delight and challenge the audience. The memorable stage production provides a unique and innovative event for nonprofit organizations and an inspiring and motivational entertainment and/or appreciation event for associations, businesses, and corporations.

Entertaining Keynote Performance Option

Tony also performs an enjoyable and inspiration-filled 30-minute keynote performance version of Mario the Peddler for conferences, meetings, seminars, luncheons, dinners, and corporate retreats. Tony appears with his bag of trinkets in his character portrayal of Mario, a New York City street peddler, humorist, and philosopher extraordinaire.

Workshops or seminars also are available following a performance. These may be customized to address your own objectives such as corporate storytelling to get your employees and/or associates more engaged in the company's vision and to help them visualize how they individually can best contribute to the company's mission.
