Mario the Peddler, a one-man stage show

If you are looking for original entertainment, look no further than Anthony (Tony) Bottagaro's presentation of Mario the Peddler, an engaging live 90-minute show based on the gutsy and humorous main character from The Poet, The Count, and The Peddler. The inspiring stage play is filled with heartwarming stories with messages that both delight and motivate the audience. The memorable stage production provides a unique and innovative fundraising event for nonprofit organizations and an inspiring and motivational entertainment or appreciation event for associations, businesses, and corporations.

Mario captivates the audience as he walks along the streets of New York City from his home in Little Italy. As the performance unfolds, the audience not only finds hope for the future, but also discovers the child within through the magic of the peddler's trinkets. Mario takes the audience on a journey in which they uncover their own deep-seated faith and their hope for the future. As Mario hawks his trinkets, the audience eagerly anticipates hearing about the wisdom and humor associated with them.

The show's message is about unconditional love, and Tony's presentation is warm, uplifting, and inspirational, yet provocative. It leaves those watching with the feeling that a Mario lives in us all, regardless of age, ethnicity, or position in life. It lets the soul speak and forces the heart to listen!

Entertaining Keynote Performance Option

Tony also performs an enjoyable and inspiration-filled 30-minute keynote performance version of Mario the Peddler for conferences, meetings, seminars, luncheons, dinners, and corporate retreats. Tony appears with bag of trinkets in his character portrayal of Mario, a New York City street peddler, humorist, and philosopher extraordinaire.
